Speed School Graduate Student Employment Policy

[The J. B. Speed School of Engineering adheres to all UofL Graduate School Policies]

The Graduate School has the following policy.

“Restriction on Other Support: Graduate assistants are expected to devote their full energies to the completion of their studies and are discouraged from accepting outside responsibilities or employment. A graduate student may not hold two graduate assistantships or a University Fellowship and an assistantship for the same period of time.”

Assumptions: In order to comply with the Graduate School policy Speed School institutes the following:

Rules:

1) If you did not inform your chair of other employment you must do so now.

2) You cannot accept another job while you are receiving compensation and or tuition from Speed School without written approval from your Chair and official notification to the Dean’s Office.

This policy and these rules are necessary to adhere to University policy.
